She is Bella!

The story of Frogella

Crooked teeth, poppy-out ears, flat feet... let's adjust our children! A funny nursery rhyme that puts on the story of a child "to be redone", who suffers the loving torture of repairs until the day when... she decides that the time to rebel has come. Looking at her faults with new eyes, she can accept them and even enhance, teaching her friends the secret of happiness. Accept your faults to accept yourself.

Veni, vidi, vici!
Elementary, my dear Watson!
I have a dream!

Julius Caesar, Sherlock Holmes, Socrates, Kennedy, Frida Kahlo, Martin Luther King... what do they have in common? They have pronounced sentences that we still mention today in our speeches. Memorable phrases that everyone has heard and that many share on social networks, use in their language, insert in texts or greeting cards. This book contains 40 phrases that have left their mark, and many curiosities about who pronounced them and in which context.

NIGHT OF THE MOON

1969-2019: 50 YEARS FROM THE MOON LANDING.

Late sixties; the great season of space travel fills the chronicles of every single day. Everyone talks about Apollo 11. The names of Neil Armstrong and "Buzz" Aldrin are on everyone's lips: they are about to gain their place in History. The real space adventure of the chronicles mixes with the adventures and the imagination of a group of friends who get together to play every afternoon. The finite space of a courtyard expands in the imagination of the boys up to assume the infinite contours of the outer space.

THE RUNNERS-UP

Starting from the stories of 20 champions of sports and their extraordinary lives, The runners-up tells the story of defeat, of learning to lose. Wonderful falls can turn into incredible flights. These pages tell the courage of Luz Long who opposed Hitler, the story of Peter Norman who crossed the finish line for the aborigines, that of Billie Jean King who denounced the machismo with a racket and that of Andres Escobar who was never ashamed for having lost. Sport becomes a pretext to talk about racism, homosexuality, disability, feminism, dictatorship, war. Winning is not everything, victory does not only mean medals and trophies: sometimes sport produces real champions of life.

How scary! Great classics of terror

What is fear? A cold thrill that wraps you slowly and leaves you frozen? Or is it the sudden fright that makes you jump on the arm-chair? Is it a restless creep as thin as a snake? Or is it like the bite of a dark panther? Fear is all these things and many more, and you can find all of them in this book. 15 great stories of horror, 15 classics of the past re-written with the rhythm and the right words to make them tasty for young readers today.

15 great stories of fear from the classical tradition of all time.

Igor De Amicis, Paola Luciani FUGEEES FOOTBALL CLUB

A refugee reception centre has been opened at the gates of a small town in Puglia. The townspeople look with suspicion and prejudice to the guests of the centre and even the kids do not escape these dynamics. But the passion for football will change everything. What at first seemed a stubborn rivalry becomes an alliance to win the prestigious football tournament of the town. It turns into a true friendship that goes beyond stereotypes and prejudices. Abandoning the clichés dictated by ignorance and fear, the Italian kids will find out the truth before their eyes: a truth that will strike them deeply, changing their way of thinking forever.

Footprints in the snow

It's a rather special Christmas, the one that the young narrator and his grandfather are preparing to spend together. Mom and dad are leaving for a trip: grandfather and grandson left home alone, not used to their respective presence, a little uncertain about how to behave. But a grandfather's coup turns the quiet vacation into an adventure through the mountains and woods, where wary and shy creatures roam, leaving footprints in the snow and in the lives of those who can notice them. A little fairy tale of the season, with a lot of snow, eyes wide open in the dark, the cold outside and the warmth you feel when a special affinity lights on with the others.

From a famous Author, the perfect story for winter-time.

KNOCK-OUT

Mattia is a boy who has everything: disposable income, intelligence, good-looking, popularity. Yet there is something that is missing, which makes him uneasy. Ali is a young Maghrebi, for living he is a bricklayer. The two seem to have nothing in common until they are facing each other in the ring. The showdown leaves them both tired, bruised and friends. Mattia will discover that these two worlds, the one he comes from and the one he attends, are not at all so far and different. An exciting story of sport and friendship.

Andrea Atzori
THE COURAGE SAILS AT MIDNIGHT

1941. World War II bloodies Europe and the nations fall one by one before the Nazi advance. When even Norway is conquered, Haakon and his family are forced to embark on a fishing boat and flee. Route to the west, on the North Sea, towards the Shetland Islands, in Scotland, where there is still peace for now. But it is not easy to live in exile, knowing that at home the war continues. Haakon takes a decision. Together with his friends Calum and Agatha, he decides to cross the sea again to help those left behind. A great adventure steeped in history.

ON THE THRESHOLD OF THE WOOD

The story of a spoiled boy who runs away from his parents' comfortable house to get into the wood that borders the house. In that forest he will meet a blind man and a man without arms, who bravely plant trees next to a polluting cement factory. In the wood the boy will learn to overcome fears and prejudices towards those who look different from him, learn to be helpful, to think with his head. A fascinating and poetic book: get lost in the woods, cross it and venture into the unknown to know yourself. Inspired by a true story, a novel that is an adventure, but also an opportunity to talk about the environment, empathy, solidarity.

Tommaso Percivale
THUNDER FROM THE MOUNTAIN. VAJONT '63

October 9, 1963: millions of cubic meters of rock fell into the artificial basin created by the Vajont dam, causing a wave that buried two entire provinces and nearly 2000 people under a sea of mud. Everyone spoke of unpredictable fatality. But the tragedy was announced. What happened? Economic interests have prevailed over common sense, and everyone had been silent. Not really everyone. A voice had risen to break the guilty silence. A strong, clear and indomitable voice, like the mountain. The voice of Tina Merlin, a journalist, a fighter, but above all a daughter of those mountains. A woman who bravely fought against everything and everyone. The unheard voice of the Vajont.

Daniele Aristarco

LETTERS TO A TWELVE-YEAR-OLD GIRL ON THE FASCISM OF PAST AND PRESENT

Is history repeating itself? Can the ghosts of the past come back? How to recognize them, how to counteract? Daniele Aristarco explores some of the most complex and contradictory aspects of our time. Through a series of letters sent to the young Giulia, the Author tells the story of the fascist dictatorship, trying to unravel the intricate threads and investigating the enigma of consensus. With a hint of humour and a clear and gripping style, these pages retrace the history from the twentieth century to the contemporary. In addition to the main events, ranging from the birth of the fascist movement to its ruinous collapse at the end of the Second World War, the author focuses on the contents and cultural characteristics of a thought that has not completely disappeared.
