Adalgisa Volantis AND THE MARKED DESTINIES

SILVIA RONCAGLIA

In the fascinating and powerful fresco of a fantasy world, full of esoteric mystery, a chosen couple faces an adventurous and initiatory journey into dangerous and forbidden territories, the Dark Lands, called to complete a quest that seems impossible: subverting the order established by a ruthless and devious dictatorship, redeeming the marked destinies of the inhabitants of Visconia.

A fantasy book dedicated to lovers of fantastic stories full of mystery, and to all readers in search of adventure.

A gripping story set in a dystopian world in which the courage of a young girl manages to overturn a destiny already sealed.

Universal themes such as randomness, predestination, free will and the eternal struggle between good and evil intertwine in a breathtaking tale full of love, betrayal, and magic.

The Kirai and the five energies

VIOLA MARCHESI

illustrated by ALESSANDRO BARBUCCI

Courage, Joy, Curiosity, Hope and Love are the energies that keep the world in balance. What if the Nemesis, their dark side, took over, spreading chaos? Kayla, Oliver, Arumi, Iris and Jack are the Kirai, the protectors of the five energies, young people quite different from each other but with a mission: to find the amulets linked to their gifts, to bring light back into the darkness.

An adventurous fantasy in which five friends with special powers fight the negative energies that threaten the world.

A novel about friendship and growth, about rediscovering the light that everyone has within, learning how to cultivate it.

A profound and engaging story that magically addresses the problems and challenges of young people today: fighting bullying, finding one's own way, dealing with social media, love.

I will come to you

DANIELE NICASTRO

Giada and Nico have a special bond that has born in the last months of school. When the holidays arrive, he disappears. What happened to him? Why doesn't he answer the phone? No one really knows him or where he lives. The only certain thing is that his avatar has been seen in a popular online game. Giada hates videogames, but she is determined: "If you don't come to me, I will come to you".

Two adrift planets that find their identity by coming into contact.

A story for videogame lovers in which it is possible, following one lead after another, to cross the border between the real and virtual worlds.

A novel that shows the powerful energy of relationships, the fear of failure, of being judged by the system and the difficulty of finding one's place in the world.

STOP BODY SHAMING

ANNALISA STRADA

Body shaming is an insidious persecution and an easy temptation. Without looking anyone in the face, it can affect anyone, from ordinary people to Hollywood stars and the most followed influencers. Knowing about it is crucial: we may be its victims and need help, but we may also be unwitting persecutors. In a frank dialogue, full of concrete examples, Annalisa Strada tackles this problem, which has both individual and social implications, unmasking the stereotypes that feed it, debunking false myths, and proposing food for thought for young people and adults.

A collection of stories to deal with the theme of body shaming, discrimination, and marginalisation with young people.

A book about diversity, growth, school, friendship, encounters, violence.

The fire within

GIUSI PARISI

How much can a girl or a boy who has suffered an injustice burn with rage? And, if that injustice comes even from the people he loves the most, will the fire ever be extinguished? Daniel loves his family: his mother, his father, and his sister Cat, who needs his care and from whom he receives boundless affection. For some time, however, he senses that something has changed, something that threatens their harmony. And when, purely by chance, he discovers that his parents are separated at home and that everyone, including his beloved Cat and his best friend, has kept it from him, disappointment and anger lead him to get close to a gang of thugs, boys not much older than him who enjoy setting fire to things and animals. Daniel feels that what he is doing is wrong, but the desire for revenge burns too strong in him. Can he regain control of himself, before it is too late?

A story that speaks to kids today and deals with central themes in their lives such as the relationship with parents and the difficulty of growing up.

The book of whys

GIANNI RODARI
illustrated by EMANUELE LUZZATI

The book of the whys came out in 1984 with Editori Riuniti and collects part of the texts of the columns that Rodari edited in various Italian newspapers; his commitment was to answer to children's questions that often «rain down on their parents' heads like hail» but to do it, according to his style, with a smile and unpredictability. The lively illustrations by Emanuele Luzzati with whom Rodari had already worked make the now revived edition a current laboratory of the imagination.

A classic by Gianni Rodari for everyone, young and old, with original illustrations by Emanuele Luzzati.

A book full of humour and lightness that touches deep themes such as justice, equality, freedom, friendship, solidarity.

Breath

ANTONIO FERRARA

Tullio is a boy with a strong passion for poetry, but he is also ill with chronic asthma. Every time he tries an effort he breathes badly. One day, he meets an old lady at the supermarket, who will turn out to be a real poetess. Tullio will start seeing her and establish a special, unique bond with her. But one day he will also discover her secret.

A book aimed at children who want to discover something about the emotional potential of Poetry.

A story about the importance of naming and sharing one's emotions, about dialogue between generations, about the courage to put oneself on the line by overcoming clichés, and about fearing the judgement of others.

Poetry is not a boring old thing buried in textbooks; it is not sappy sentimentality. Poetry is tenderness and strength.

May in Palermo

GILDA TERRANOVA

The story of magistrate Francesca Morvillo, victim, together with her husband Giovanni Falcone and three police escorts, of the Capaci bombing on 23 May 1992.

Thirty years have passed since the 1992 massacres and very little has been written about Francesca Morvillo, the only female magistrate victim of the Mafia. A void that perhaps stems from the same reserve that characterised her life. First a companion and then from 1986 the wife of Giovanni Falcone, she was always at his side in a decisive but discreet manner. Her name is only chanted aloud and in full on 23 May each year, at 5:58 PM, in front of the Falcone tree, in memory of the Capaci massacre.

A book that tells the life of a mafia victim and is aimed at boys and girls who want to know her story.

The story of a woman, her courage and determination to support her husband in his battle.
